Our count as of right before the announcement was 51 declared yes, 22 declared against and 18 undecided (which likely would have split half and half). Plett was intending on deferring the vote till tomorrow 3:30, so we wouldn't have voted today anyways.

Too bad we couldn't get that

Thanks for all you do

Yea we worked our ass off, but the right and proper thing to do was to revoke as soon as the
